

Contact: Amelia Narigon | Publicist, Midnight Ink Books
Email: AmeliaN@MidnightInkBooks.com | Tel: 651-312-8459

Midnight Ink

For Release in November

Claire Hanover Rounds Up Another Mystery When a murder puts her brother's business on the line it's up to Claire to lasso the killer

ST. PAUL, MINN. — When gift basket designer Claire Hanover saddles up for the opening event of her brother Charley's new riding stable, the last thing she expects is for a death to ruin the festivities in A Basket of Trouble (November 2013). But before the grand opening can even begin, Kyle Mendoza, one of the stable hands, is found dead in a horse stall. At first it appears that the horse trampled him, until it's discovered Kyle was killed before being dragged in to the stall.

Charley's troubles worsen when a rival stable owner starts stealing his clients and Kyle's family decides to sue him for negligence. With the clock ticking for Charley's business, Claire is determined to find the killer and save the stables before it's too late.

###

Agatha Award finalist Beth Groundwater is the author of the Claire Hanover Mysteries, originally published by Five Star, and the RM Outdoor Adventures Mysteries (Midnight Ink). She is a member of Sisters in Crime and the Mystery Writers of America, and participates in several writing groups and organizations near her home in Breckenridge, Colorado. Visit her online at BethGroundwater.com.

A Basket of Trouble: A Claire Hanover Mystery by Beth Groundwater
US $14.99 CAN $17.50 | Paperback Original | ISBN 978-0-7387-2703-5
Publication date: November 8, 2013 | Midnight Ink Books
Other titles in this series: A Real Basket Case (2011) and To Hell in a Handbasket (2012)

###

Midnight Ink – Mystery's Finest Hour
www.MidnightInkBooks.com